

GOLFWEEK'S BEST RESIDENTIAL GOLF COURSES

FIDDLER'S CREEK® included in Golfweek Magazine's 2010 BEST RESIDENTIAL GOLF COURSES The Definitive Guide to Luxury Golf Course Living

Golfweek magazine has included Fiddler's Creek® in its Top 100 Best Residential Golf Courses listing for a fifth, consecutive year.

Golfweek's Best Residential Golf Courses program is undertaken by a team of over 300 course raters, drawn from every state. These raters scour the nation and evaluate over 1,800 golf courses on the basis of 10 technical criteria of design excellence.

Criteria can include overall strength of routing, feature shaping, natural setting, greens, variety and memorability of holes, conditioning and maintenance, landscape management and other statistical data.

"In recent years, there's been a decided shift in the golf development market, from free-standing facilities to real estate communities," said Golfweek's America's Best Courses program director and architecture editor, Bradley S. Klein. "In recognition of that change, Golfweek is dedicated to honoring courses where golf architects, developers and land planners have successfully established home sites while protecting basic golf values. This list of top 100 residential golf courses is a product of our commitment."

Planned to accommodate and enhance the natural beauty of Florida, Fiddler's Creek encompasses nearly 4,000 acres and boasts exceptional amenities including tropical lagoon-style swimming pools, spa, fitness center, casual and fine dining and an array of luxurious residential styles.

The optional Golf Club at Fiddler's Creek® features the awe-inspiring Creek Course, currently in play and designed by acclaimed golf course architect Arthur Hills. A second course, The Preserve Course, is under design by the award winning team of Hurdzan/Fry.
